LUNCHEON MEAT - A VERSATILE INGREDIENT

Luncheon meat is a versatile ingredient that can be used in a multitude of ways. Some common uses include:

Sandwiches: A staple in deli sandwiches, adding flavour and protein to the filling.

Salads: Sliced or cubed luncheon meat can be added to salads for an extra burst of flavour.

Appetizers: It can be served as part of a charcuterie board or as a standalone appetizer.

Cooked Dishes: It can be diced and added to cooked dishes such as pasta, casseroles, and more (recipes.net).
